

State Officials Note Sorrow, Give Tributes

(From Page One)
George Greenfield: "No man ever to enter the public service of the state contributed more to the welfare of its citizens or worked more unselfishly in the cause of good government."

From State Treasurer Ruth Moon, a Democrat: "Idaho and the Democratic party have lost an elder statesman whose activities in the past have meant so much to us."

From State Auditor N. P. Nelson, a Republican: "I knew Ira for a long time and liked him very much. He was a very well-thought-of man."

And from Ada County Democratic Chairman Richard Bunting: "His long years of service have been of tremendous benefit in the growth and development of Idaho."

Officials of the Idaho national guard said an honor guard would board the train in Pocatello, remain aboard until its arrival in Boise, and be in attendance during the lying-in-state.

Man, 37, Uses Car Exhaust To Take Life

Fred Nicholas Beckwith, 37, Pioneer Trailer courts, took his own life sometime Sunday night or Monday morning by inhaling carbon monoxide gas, the sheriff's department said Monday.

He was found slumped in the front seat of his 1949 Ford around 4 a.m. Monday on a county road northwest of the Twin Falls Gun Club near Snake River canyon.

Two notes and his driver's license were pinned to the sun visor of the car. One note was addressed to his wife and the other was addressed to whom it may concern.

One note indicated he intended to take his life. The note addressed to his wife directed she receive all his property and that she return to her relatives in Oregon.

Oils from the car's exhaust was pumped into the car with a piece of flexible pipe. The pipe ran through the opened trunk and into the rear seat. Rags were stuffed around the seat opening to keep the gas in the car.

The suicide was reported to Sheriff James H. Benham at 9:35 a.m. by A. P. Russell, 1335 Ninth avenue east, Russell, a driver for Troy Laundry, passed the parked car around 7:30 a.m. Monday. On his return trip at 9 a.m. he stopped near the parked Ford and saw a man slumped in the seat.

Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith lived in a trailer at Pioneer Trailer park, 1515 Kimberly road. He is believed to have left the trailer around 8 p.m. Sunday.

An investigation was made by Sheriff Benham, Dr. J. Woodson Creed, county coroner, Deputy Sheriff Wayne Hankins and State Patrolman Howard Carr.

Mr. Beckwith was born April 13, 1918, in Twin Falls. He was a veteran of World War II. He was preceded in death by his parents and one sister.

Survivors are a brother, Edmund Beckwith, U. S. air force; three sisters, Mrs. Paul Berg, McCook, Neb.; Mrs. E. R. Holcomb, Salt Lake City, and Mrs. John Nye, Twin Falls.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Twin Falls mortuary.

Nature Is Called 'Best' Toymaker

(OPENHAGEN UP)—Kay Bojesen, famed Danish toymaker, said manufacturers still have been unable to come up with anything to replace what nature provides.

"Actually, the best toys are sand and water, and what a child can find in nature, like acorns and seashells," Bojesen said. "The next best things are blocks, and after them come wheels.

"The simpler the toys, the better," he said, "because it allows the child fantasy."

Bojesen, who has been making toys for more than a quarter of a century, said he is particularly fond of the fact that fathers will buy for their children the same Bojesen toys they used as youngsters.

"Almost always," he said, "it is the men who come back for the toys of their youth, not the women."

"When it comes to toys," he explained, "the little girls become ladies after the age of six. But little boys remain little boys until they die."

Last Honor Paid To A. Holmquist

Christian Science services for Andrew E. Holmquist were conducted at 2 p.m. Monday in the White Mortuary with the Christian Science reader officiating.

Soloist was Mrs. Oren Boone and the organist was Mrs. Nellie Ostrom Babcock. Pallbearers were Roscoe Boyd, Boyd Reynolds, Carroll Powell, Harley Williams, Warren Daugh and Otto Ring.

Concluding rites were at Sunset Memorial park.

Woman in Rupert Claimed by Death

RUPERT, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Hattie Lourie Anderson, 88, died at 2:45 p.m. Sunday at the Rupert General hospital following a long illness.

Bill Will Prevent Eating Shortage

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (UPI)—The house agriculture committee today approved a Senate-passed bill designed to prevent a shortage of spaghetti and macaroni.

The bill would require for durum wheat only the 1958-crop production controls placed on all wheat growers because of burdensome surpluses of other types of wheat.

Spaghetti and macaroni are made from durum wheat.

Growers in California, Montana, Minnesota and the Dakotas would be eligible to increase plantings of durum wheat. California was not eligible under a law enacted for the 1955 crop.

JOB OFFERED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Donald R. Ross, who resigned last Friday as U. S. attorney for Nebraska, testified today John M. Neff told him he had been asked to help represent the Superior Oil company in connection with the natural gas bill.

Early Pioneer Dies at Age 80

Mr. Adaline Alice Wonacott, 80, pioneer resident of Magic Valley, died at 8:40 a.m. Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. David Lovelady, 359 Caswell avenue.

Born Jan. 7, 1876, at Grants Pass, Ore., she was married to Edward L. Wonacott on June 24, 1893, at Myrtle Creek, Ore. In 1912, the couple came to Kimberly where they operated an orchard and nursery until 1938. After living in Buhl for several years, Mrs. Wonacott moved to Twin Falls. She was a member of the First Christian church.

Surviving are four sons, S. A. Wonacott, Boise; Oscar Wonacott, The Dalles, Ore., and Newton Wonacott, Newberg, Ore.; five daughters, Mrs. Viola Williams, Boise; Mrs. Alberta Hollingsworth, Prescott, Ariz.; Mrs. Catherine Black, Big Timber, Mont., and Mrs. Louisa Lovelady, Twin Falls; 22 grandchildren and 43 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services are pending at Twin Falls mortuary.

Ruling Is Given On Strike Action

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Trial Examiner Maurice M. Miller of the national labor relations board has ruled that the capitol city lodge No. 1508 of the International Association of Machinists (AFL-CIO) had not conducted illegal picketing of the Valley Motors company, Salem, Ore.

A charge that the union had committed unfair labor practice by picketing had been filed by President Pete J. Brennan of the company. He maintained that because the union had failed to win a majority vote in a recent labor election that the union's continued picketing activity was to force the company to sign a union shop contract, an illegal act.

Miller found that the union, indeed, had failed to win a majority in the election, but the company had failed to prove that the picketing was done with the intention of forcing a union shop contract

Control Step
Is Noted for Cancer Fight

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (AP) — What could be the first glimmer of a breakthrough on the cancer front was reported to the world by scientists today. They were controlling the growth of a particular kind of cancer in chick embryos inside eggs with "substantial success."

Drs. Alfred Taylor and Roger J. Williams of the University of Texas hedged their revelations with scientific care but suspected that successful cancer investigation "may take a course involving first the control of cancer in embryonated eggs, second its control in experimental animals, and lastly its control in human patients."

Report Given

If that proves to be so, the first step has now been taken, they reported in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences. By combining anti-cancer chemicals with an increased temperature, they stopped the growth of a mouse mammary tumor without interfering with the normal growth of the chick embryo enclosed in the same egg.

Their successful experiments were repeatable, which is an acid test.

This experiment they detailed: 107 fertile eggs were inoculated with cancerous mouse tissue. On the 10th day of incubation, 140 eggs were incubated with tem, an anti-cancer chemical. At the same time the incubation temperature was raised from 98.6 degrees to 104 degrees.

The remaining 87 eggs were left alone in a 98.6 incubator.

Eggs Opened

On the 18th incubation day, all eggs were opened. In all the 87 "control" eggs except one, the embryos had been killed by the growing cancer, and the one survivor contained a large tumor. Of the 140 which had been treated with tem and increased temperature, 88 not only had survived but had reached normal growth and only traces of atypically (not typically) appearing tumor were present in most of them.

Ten has been widely used against human cancers, with disappointing results. In only some it has slowed cancer growth—but only for a time. With other anti-cancer chemical compounds they found that increased temperature also enhanced effectiveness. All their results when put together emboldened them to suggest that cancer control may be found to involve the simultaneous use of chemical and physical agents. (Heat is a physical agent.)

New Blast Made
In Mining Claim

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP) — Sen. Richard L. Neuberger, D., Ore., said today Oregon tax reports prove that the Al Sarepa Mining company "has been harvesting timber" in the Rouge River national forest.

Neuberger and other congressional Democrats have accused the interior department of a timber "give away" in granting mining claims to Al Sarepa in the area. The matter recently was investigated by a Senate subcommittee. Interior Secretary Douglas McKay has said the claims were awarded under laws passed by congress.

Neuberger said Oregon state forest-fire tax reports show that the company has cut more than two million board-feet of saw timber in the past two years.

The life and death of a western mining town that went from boom to bust in four years is being studied by a University of California historian.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—It is surprising testimony of President Eisenhower's strength and popularity that he manages to survive the spectacularly inept blunders of the administration's so-called "business friends and interests." Their stupid mistakes range from the complex Dixon-Yates transaction to the crude slipping of $2,000 to Sen. Francis Case's campaign fund.

Eisenhower might well feel justified in saying that "Heaven protect me from my friends, for I can take care of my enemies." Were it not for the public trust in his personal and political integrity, which he may or may not be able to bequeath to a successor nominee, the Republicans could be sunk without a trace next November.

GERMANY'S TRADE DRIVE

There was a significant story buried recently on inside pages of the nation's newspapers. It said that Western Germany is launching a big trade drive in Asia and Africa. The goal is to help counter Russia's economic warfare in these areas.

To the United States this information must come as both a comfort and a cause for concern.

It is comforting because it constitutes evidence that others besides America itself are prepared to contest the Soviet union in this new warfare of mounting intensity.

American lawmakers view with increasing distaste the prospect of carrying on foreign economic aid indefinitely. They may vote more than they would like to, but they will not be happy about it. They feel this country bears too much of the world's load.

Of course they do not protest private investment abroad. But the big demand upon this nation has been for public assistance.

Germany's new drive features efforts by both private industrialists and government officials. Some are touring the Far East. Alfred Krupp of the Ruhr steel works will visit India, Pakistan, Thailand and Egypt. A former Luftwaffe designer will start work on a contract to build up India's aircraft industry.

German Economics Minister Erhard soon will visit Britain to discuss possible joint action to meet the Communist trade offensive.

All this holds promise for the whole West, not to mention Germany itself. But it also puts a faint cloud on the U. S. horizon.

The Germans are a driving, plodding people. Their domestic revival has astonished Europe and the world. As yet their export trade is small by comparison with ours. But if they press on foreign fronts as they have at home, their share of the market is bound to increase.

We want to see Germany reasonably self-sufficient, as we want the same for all free nations. Thus we must be willing to see their trade expand. But we should not wish to see markets go to them by default.

It is fair they should have them if they earn them by superior products efficiently turned out and marketed with full competitive energy. Should we fall on any of these counts we cannot complain. But we owe it to ourselves to exhibit all the competitive spirit for which we are famous.

Germany's trade drive is welcome, yes. But it should be a signal to American industrialists and investors to redouble their own energies in these African and Asiatic markets which have become the focus of world trade combat.

WASHINGTON—A SYMBOL

George Washington is revered as one of America's great men not simply because he led our rebel armies to victory but because he stood astride history at one of its great turning points.

The American revolution was the world's first great libertarian revolt. It was the first time men wrenched themselves free of the yoke of autocratic authority and set up a government in which the people would exercise the controlling power.

Washington was the solid symbol of the American spirit which engendered that rebellion.

Uprisings often tend to get out of hand. Young, upstart governments may prove tragically inept. Extremists see in weakness their perfect opportunity, and grasp power they could not have taken in the original revolt.

Though he led the American military cause, Washington was no extremist, no inciter of the rabble. He was a man with many conservative instincts, well designed to preside over this budding nation at so crucial a stage.

He was the man who could help assure America that its hard-won victory over autocracy would be consolidated and made secure, rather than dissipated in excesses and inaptitude.

To be sure, it was not Washington alone who achieved this result. This nation was miraculously blessed with other men of solid quality—Jefferson, Hamilton, Madison, Adams, and so on. But Washington was the one who better than any of the others could crystallize in his being all that they hoped America would stand for.

Washington put his firm, sure hand upon the frail government of the United States at a moment when a few fateful shudders might have shaken it to pieces and left it prey once more to foreign autocrats.

For this steady stewardship, for this remarkable willingness to serve as symbol of the cause he had helped to perfect in the field, we honor George Washington. He stands in the very thin ranks at the summit of our history.

INSPIRATION TO YOUTH

You don't have to be a baseball addict to understand that the country lost a stalwart citizen with the death of fabled Connie Mack, who managed the Philadelphia Athletics for 60 years.

Connie had a grand life, marked by many triumphs, filled with enduring friendships, always rich enough to enable him to surmount defeat and disappointment.

Twice he broke up great championship teams and started afresh. He enjoyed the challenge of building with new, untried materials.

At all times Connie Mack was, as the President said, an inspiration to American youth in the most American of all sports.

Ira Masters Loses Fight, Dies in East

said "His mark on Idaho's history will be lasting."

Governor Gets Task
It will fall to the governor to appoint a successor to Ira in the remainder of Masters' term, which ends in 1968. Any consideration of the appointment "would be inappropriate to discuss at this time," Smylie said today.

In two of Masters' terms as secretary of state, he was the only Democrat to hold an Idaho elective office. In 1950 the seat earned him the nickname of "Mr. Democrat" of Idaho.

He was born on a Kansas homestead near Newton, Feb. 16, 1877, and came west as a football coach and teacher in 1907. He attended country schools but did not go to high school.

Meets Editor
He went from grade school to Kansas Teachers' college in Emporia, where he got a yen for the newspaper business in cut-and-paste chats with William Allen White, the famed "age of Emporia." Masters in later years often recalled delivering papers to White while working his way through college.

He was graduated from Kansas State and took two years of graduate work at Ottawa University. Following that, he took a job coaching football in La Junta, Colo., and the next year moved to a similar position in Ogden, Utah.

In 1910, he purchased the Bingham Press-Bulletin and later the Provo, Utah, Herald. While in Bingham, he met Corrine Harris, a musician, who became his wife March 17, 1921, in Provo.

Enters Politics 40 Years Ago
Masters entered politics in 1916 as a delegate to the national Democratic convention that nominated Woodrow Wilson for a second term as president. He was elected to the Utah state legislature in 1918.

In 1921 Masters sold the Provo Herald and purchased the Twin Falls, Idaho, Daily Times. This paper was sold in 1927 when he bought the Idaho State Journal, Pocatello, then a morning daily.

The Journal was the fourth Republican newspaper he purchased only to change its political leanings toward the Democratic party. He was later to tell reporter in Boise that his hobby was "changing rundown GOP newspapers to Democratic and making them pay . . ."

Appointed to Post
Masters was appointed registrar of the U. S. land office at Blackfoot in 1933 and three years later won his first term as secretary of state by a 40,000-vote majority. He was defeated twice in bids to represent Idaho's second congressional district and in 1944 returned to the state house as secretary of state. He won again in 1950 and once more in 1954 at the age of 77.

"I'm getting too old to run again," Masters said following his unprecedented fourth election. "I want to make way for younger men." He would have been over 80 when his term ended in 1958.

Masters, who put on a vigorous campaign despite his advanced age, thanked Idaho's weekly newspaper editors and voters "who helped me in the last (1954) campaign that I will ever make in Idaho."

He credited his victory to "a small advertisement with a picture and a short story and a few cards for the weekly newspapers of Idaho . . ."

Cites Homeliness
"Many people asked me why it is that so many people voted for me and my only logical answer is because I am so honest," he said. He counted on personal contacts with voters in small towns and on strenuous campaign tours.

"I didn't spend a nickel on radio or television," said Masters. And despite his years in the daily newspaper field he added, "or on the daily papers."

Many Democrats and Republicans alike urged him to run for governor in 1954 but his doctors, whom he called "Republican," persuaded him not to.

Dislikes Nickname
Long known as "Ike" Masters, Idaho's elder statesman has asked to be called "Dick," "Mr. Secretary" or "Mr. Democrat" but not "Ike."

"I don't like 'Ike.' That was my nickname before Mr. Eisenhower had it and it sounds like a black Republican."

Masters is survived by his daughter, Mrs. Maxine Plastino, living in Idaho Falls, and his son, Roy Jay, who resides in Boise. Mrs. Masters, also a victim of cancer, died in 1958.

Children Give School Event For Shoshone

SHOSHONE, Feb. 20.—The opera "Hansel and Gretel" was presented Friday night at the Lincoln school auditorium by pupils in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

A "gingerbread" house, 10 feet high and 16 feet long, was covered with yellow paper to represent the gingerbread, and had a red roof trimmed with cookies. Corners of the house were candy canes and the roof was trimmed with sparkling doughnut. Mrs. Viola McKendrick, first grade teacher, and John Thorne, school custodian, made the structure.

The angel's costumes, each containing seven yards of net, were made by Mrs. Myron Johnson, Room 205, for the production costs about $150 with the stage setting in excess of that. Most of the expenses were cleared through admissions tickets. The school auditorium was filled to capacity, for the event.

Dances were directed by Mrs. Dickie Scott. Mrs. Velma Allen was director of the program, assisted by George McClun, Mrs. Marjorie Midridge, Mrs. L. M. Hatmaker and Mrs. Dorothy Clayton.

Mrs. Charles Peugh, pianist, and Mr. Howard Adkins, violinist, played background music.

Main speaking parts were taken by Pete Arrossa, Carol Bond, the Verhagen, Dick Wilmeth and Child Rose. Understudies were David

Thomas, Joyce Hatmaker, Darlene

Anderson and Catherine Elorita.

All the children taking part in the show were from 9 to 11 years old.

Marilyn Devaney was reader and music helpers were Isiah Casto,

Janice Scott and Larry Simonton.

Finish Escapade

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 20 (UPI)—

Two boys, 13 and 15, had a date in middle court today to discuss a two-day escapade during which police said they stole three automobiles and stolen almost $200 worth of worth-checks.

They were arrested Saturday when they tried to pass a check in payment for a coat in a Salt Lake City store.

At police headquarters they admitted stealing the car of Mrs. Mary

Maragakis, Salt Lake City. They

abandoned it in Riverton last Friday night, but kept Mrs. Maragakis' check book which they had found in the glove compartment. They wrote six checks. Two of them they cashied in Riverton for more than $60. Three others cashed in Salt

Lake City stores totaled $125.

FBI Will Aid in

Police Training

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 20 (UPI)—

Mayor Adel F. Stewart said today top officials of the federal bureau of investigation have promised the city help in its police-training program.

Stewart reported this upon his return from Washington, where he attended a national mayors' conference last week. While there he conferred with Edmund Mason, assistant to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

"Mr. Mason said the FBI will get up a training program here any time it is wanted," the mayor said.

"I will ask for special training in the phases of police work in which our department is weakest."

Tycoon Says Persecutions Noted in U.S.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., warned Americans today that persecution is still being practiced in this country.

Firestone, chairman of the Firestone Tire and Rubber company, told some 850 community leaders at the annual brotherhood week lunch that this country has gained its great status through the bonds of brotherhood.

"And yet," he said, "there are some people with prejudices so deeply rooted in their minds and hearts that they deny the reality of these facts. By word and by deed they practice persecution here in the land which owes its very existence to those who fled from persecution."

Firestone, who is brotherhood week chairman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, said another danger also exists "from MacDonald's pet was a two-ton elephant named Opal. The charge—obstructing a public sidewalk. MacDonald said Opal, who had been cooped up in a van, was developing a case of nerves prior to an appearance on a TV show.

communists and fellow travellers who magnify cases of religious persecution in the United States out of true proportion."

These people, he said, feed the sparks of resentment into the flames of vengeance, providing grist for the propaganda mills of our enemies.

Firestone said that America stands before the world today as a living example of the power of free men. Americans must practice that freedom.

Crash Victims to Get Isle Burials

VALLETTA, Malta, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Forty-five British soldiers and the civilian pilot who died in the crash of a transport plane Saturday will be buried tomorrow at the Malta military cemetery.

The bodies of four other crewmen, including the stewardess, are to be returned to Great Britain for burial. The plane was carrying the soldiers home from service in the Suez canal zone.

Bids Planned To Air Man's Space Studies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Radio astronomy may push man's scientific frontier close to "the edge of the universe."

It may even reveal some of the secrets of creation itself.

That, at least, is the hope of scientists supporting President Eisenhower's plan to build this country's first major radio astronomy center.

Hope for Okay

The National Science Foundation, anticipating congressional approval, hopes to be able to award a construction contract before the end of the fiscal year starting July 1.

It has been considering sites for some time. The search has narrowed down from 20 to half a dozen, all in the Appalachian mountain country of West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, and the Carolinas.

Radio telescopes can "look" much farther into space than even the largest optical telescopes. They also are unhampered by the atmospheric conditions and interstellar dust and gas that frequently block off vast regions from examination by other means.

Cost Is Higher

The starting cost of the radio astronomy center would be about 3.5 million dollars. The final cost might be 25 million dollars to 30 million dollars. The government hopes operation and maintenance of the center ultimately will be taken over by some yet to be organized group of universities.

Astronomers believe radio telescopes some day may resolve differences among scientists about the birth and size of the universe—or perhaps suggest theories as yet unimagined.

The first radio telescope at the center would be a metal "dish" 140 feet across resembling a giant radar antenna. Its function would be to concentrate and receive in recordable form faint radio broadcasts from space.

Mines Are Operating

There are nine radio telescopes in the country now. The largest are a 60-foot antenna at the Harvard college observatory and a 90-foot dish at the naval research laboratory here.

The world's largest will be a 280-foot radio telescope nearing completion in Great Britain.

Dr. Bernard F. Burke, radio astronomer of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, said it is hoped that the new instruments will clean information at "distances near the edge of space"—assuming there is an edge.

Inquiry Is Made Into List 'Error'

EL TORO MARINE AIR STATION, Calif., Feb. 20 (UPI)—A marine corps court of inquiry today investigated the tragic mixup in which some marines not connected with a Niles, Calif., plane crash were identified as its victims.

The court will also probe the improper disclosure of the names of some actual victims.

The names of five crew members of last Friday's marine transport crash were correctly identified in the first list of victims, but wrong names were given for the plane's passengers. The mistake resulted in the relatives of 33 marines being told erroneously that the servicemen had perished.

Several hours later a corrected list was released. It was made up of 34 passengers, 6 actual crewmen, and one marine listed as a crewman who was "hitching" a ride.

Race Segregation Is Called "Sinful"

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20 (UPI)—A Roman Catholic archbishop, in a pastoral letter read to all churches throughout the New Orleans archdiocese, attacked racial segregation yesterday as "morally wrong and sinful."

But the church official, Joseph F. Rummell, said vital circumstances needed more "study and consideration" before the church could render a decision now on integration of parochial schools under his authority.

In a five-page letter, Rummell said, however, "nothing would please us more than to be able to render a decision now."

The archbishop asked for perseverance on the part of the people with a problem "which should be worked out not in an atmosphere of wrangling or discord or hatred, but in a spirit of brotherhood."

London is about 10,800 miles from Bombay via the Cape of Good Hope and about 6,300 via Suez.

Death of Student Changes Hazings To "Help Week"

By United Press

A cross-section of fraternity men today condemned the old-fashioned "hell week" ordeals which resulted in the death of a college freshman 10 days ago.

They said the traditional "hell week" paddlings and "long walks" are out-dated, unnecessary, and give fraternities a bad name. Some called them "idiotic" and even "barbaric."

The fraternity spokesman were queried by the United Press concerning the Feb. 10 death of an 18-year-old Massachusetts Institute of Technology fraternity pledge.

The pledge, Thomas Clark, Harvard, Ill., crashed through reservoir ice and drowned 12 miles from the MIT campus. His superiors in the Delta Kappa Epsilon chapter had taken him blindfolded on a car ride and ordered him to find his way back in the darkness.

Clark was to be buried near his home today and at MIT fraternity leaders met last night to discuss plans for curbing "hell week" stunts.

In other universities, many fraternities said they had changed "hell week" to "help week." Fraternity pledges, in order to gain official admission into the fraternities, are ordered to roll up their sleeves and turn work gangs for some charitable purpose, they said.

FLOOD VICTIMS GET QUICK PAYMENT FOR LOSSES

FROM FARMERS INSURANCE GROUP

For their 1956 Porsche, run 500 miles, Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Stearns, the couple on the right, received full new car price plus sales tax—$3880—also $1510 for their 1955 Volkswagen. The other couple, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Kerns, received $2045 for loss of their 1955 Chevrolet. Farmers Insurance Group Adjuster James E. Gwin and District Agent L. J. Greene of Santa Cruz, Calif., are pictured paying the claims. Mr. Stearns wrote, "They were not only prompt, but they didn't act like it was breaking their hearts to help us."

When the floods came to California a few days ago, the well-organized network of Farmers Insurance Group offices jumped into emergency action. To speed up payments, a special crew of adjusters rushed to flood areas, seeking out policyholders.

holders, estimating losses and paying on the spot. The catastrophe revealed many dramatic instances where Farmers Insurance Group agents and claims adjusters ignored personal safety and comfort, and worked around-the-clock to serve policyholders needing immediate assistance.

Adjuster Climbs Mountain to Find Policyholder

Take Claims Adjuster R. W. Steinback, for example. He didn't sit in his office waiting for policyholders to file claims—he sloshed thru the rain to go after them.

In Mendocino County, a residence was completely washed away and the car under water. All roads and bridges were washed out, but Steinback hiked over a mountain, crossed the stream on a log, inspected the damage, located policyholder at a motor court and paid for a total loss to insured's complete satisfaction.

These are typical of hundreds of reports. Wherever catastrophes strike, Farmers Insurance Group rushes payments to policyholders—but even under normal conditions, claims are paid with such speed that over 2,000,000 policyholders testify: "We get the best service from Farmers Insurance Group—plus lower rates."

Winter Paralyzes Anchorage Areas

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 20 (UPI)—High winds, drifting snow and frigid temperatures paralyzed the Anchorage area during the week-end and continued to numb the city today.

Blustery winds with gusts up to 75 miles per hour started Saturday morning, whipping the remains of a recent record snowfall into drifts across all streets. The temperature plummeted down and yesterday's high was a bare seven degrees.

The misery was compounded when a two-hour power failure early yesterday put most of the city's furnaces out of operation. Schools were ordered closed for today. Acting Mayor Jack White asked residents to stay in their homes or give work crews a chance to clear streets of

Lawyer Who Filed Charge
Draws Arrest

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 20 (UPI)—A Negro attorney who filed an anti-segregation suit growing out of Montgomery's bus boycott on an indictment returned by a grand jury investigating the boycott.

The grand jury may write other indictments early next week charging the actual violation of Alabama's boycott law, a statute originally aimed at labor disputes.

Fred Gray, 25-year-old Montgomery lawyer, was among the defendants named in 114 true bills handed in by the jury late Friday in a partial report. The final report is expected today or tomorrow.

Gray was charged with unlawfully filing an anti-segregation suit in U.S. district court last month without the consent of one of the five Negro women whose names appeared on the complaint.

The suit, an outgrowth of the racial boycott against Montgomery City Lines buses, seeks to knock out-city and state laws which require segregation on all public transportation.

The attorney was released on $300 bond after his arrest. He declined to comment on the indictment which was returned under a state law which makes it a misdemeanor to file a court suit without authority. Violation is punishable by a $50 fine and suspension from practice.

Probe Sought
By Demos on
U. S. Defense

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Democrats renewed their demands for a congressional review of defense policy following claims that Russia is "head of us" in the ballistic missile race.

Trout Gardner, who resigned as child of the air force research staff earlier this month after a row with his administration over money for research, urged yesterday that Congress set up a new "czar" to push an emergency missile program.

"I believe the Russians are ahead of us," Gardner said when questioned about the U. S. ballistic missile progress on a television program.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D., Mo., former air force secretary under the Truman administration, who also insists the United States is behind in the missile race, said he was "glad the truth is finally getting to the people."

"I am only sorry that under this administration, this apparently can only happen through resignations," Symington said.

He said Gardner's proposal for a new missile czar should be considered by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D., Tenn., campaigning for the Democratic presidential nomination in Minnesota, called for a "full review" by Congress to "find out if we're properly defending ourselves."

"I'm tremendously concerned about the fact that Russia has either caught us or gone ahead of us," he said.

Kefauver said Gardner should be called as a witness in any congressional investigation of defense.

Gardner said the new missile czar—who would be a new deputy or assistant defense secretary—should be responsible directly to Congress for the missile program and should handle money for it "exempt from normal controls of defense funds."

He also called for a second "crash" program to increase production of the B52 Intercontinental bomber from a present 17 a month, which he said was "pitifully low," to 45 a month.

Gardner said without qualification that this country has "no operational ballistic missile." He said the United States is ahead of Russia in development of air-to-air and ground-to-air defense missiles but behind in development of a ballistic missile.

Gardner said Soviet Defense Minister Georgi K. Zhukov's speech Saturday brought out what U. S. officials "have been fearing for some time."

Zhukov declared Russia has atomic and hydrogen weapons and "long-range missiles." He said nuclear bombing of U. S. cities would follow any western attack on Russia.

Kefauver Readies Week's Stumping

CONCORD, N. H., Feb. 20 (UPI)—Sen. Kefauver, D., Tenn., said Saturday night he will make a day-long New Hampshire campaign tour early next month and Adlai Stevenson's supporters pounced on the announcement as an indication that "we've got him worried."

Kefauver's speech-making and handshaking swing is scheduled to start March 1 and end March 6, exactly one week before New Hampshire voters go to the polls in the nation's first presidential primary of 1956.

The Tennessee's chief opposition in his bid for a repeat of his 1952 New Hampshire victory comes from backers of Stevenson.

Wyoming Mother Shows How Public Schools Can Be Aided

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Mrs. Fred D. Boice, Jr., an attractive mother of two youngsters from Cheyenne, Wyo., is rocking the nation's top educators right back on their blackboards.

Mrs. Boice's idea turned out to be one of the hottest to come out of the high-level White House conference on education because it revealed that she and a handful of public-spirited citizens in Wyoming are just about five years ahead of everyone else at the conference. Its citizens weren't asking anybody for anything.

Her report included these facts: Five years ago the Wyoming legislature, upset by the state's deteriorating schools, set up a citizen's committee to investigate the problem. As a member of the legislature, informed on school problems, a tireless worker and mother of two kids, Mrs. Boice was made chairman.

"The first step in solving any problem is to face squarely the fact that the problem exists," she says. "That's what we did by going to the people all over the state, taking a completely objective look at the schools and trying not to be blinded by school legislation already on the books."

"Each member paid his or her own expenses and worked hard. We did a $300,000 study on $12,000—which proves that the size of an appropriation does not limit the accomplishment."

What her committee uncovered was a situation not worse than the present one existing in most states. But not much better, and getting worse.

In a few years enrollment had jumped 24 per cent. The state's birth rate was 11 per cent higher than the national average. Only 37 out of the state's 87 high schools were accredited by the North Central association.

A study of the state's outmoded school district system revealed that 320 one-teacher rural schools were being maintained in separately organized districts, 45 districts did not maintain any schools and about two-thirds of the districts did not maintain high schools.

Only 47 per cent of the elementary teachers and 16 per cent of the rural teachers had four years of college.

The committee decided that the immediate need was 500 more teachers and 400 additional classrooms.

Then the committee tackled the most difficult of all educational problems: How schools are financed.

It found that one method of appropriating money was on the basis of the number of teachers and school bus drivers in a district.

The effect of this was to give more money to the wealthier districts and less to the poorer ones.

The final report was put into attractive, booklet form which any person could read and understand, and distributed widely around the state.

Among other things the report recommended that practically all present laws governing the financing of schools be replaced with new ones adaptable to modern, growing educational needs.

Chief financial recommendations were that a one per cent sales tax be authorized for the support of the schools and that the basic education cost formula be computed on a minimum expenditure per classroom.

It said:

"Guarantee to every child in rural, elementary and high schools a program costing $5,500 per classroom unit."

This is a respectable figure for any U. S. state school system.

Then, when the committee laid its report before the legislature last

January there was such universal understanding and support for it that recommendations were passed unanimously.

Today the state is well on its way to getting one of the most progressive school systems in the United States.

Israeli Arms Bid May Get Solons' Okay

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Israel's chances of getting U. S. arms aid, including some jet planes, have improved as a result of events of the past three days, some administration officials said today.

They emphasized that no decision has been reached but said Israel may get some favorable reaction on its arms request as a result of the controversial shipment of 18 U. S. tanks to Saudi Arabia. Saudi Arabia is one of Israel's Arab foes in the Middle East.

The freighter James Monroe sailed from Brooklyn, N. Y., today with the tanks. Late last night, 29 of the ship's 33 crew members demanded a 25 per cent bonus as wartime pay for making the voyage. This delayed the sailing more than eight hours until 6:53 a.m. (EST).

After the tank shipment was disclosed, the government early Friday clamped an embargo on any arms shipments to the Middle East. But the embargo was lifted some 43 hours later.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D., N. Y., charged yesterday that "oil interests" represented by Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover, Jr., persuaded President Eisenhower to lift the embargo.

Celler said the "oil interests" got to the President's ear" on the controversial arms shipment. He said "they are represented by Herbert Hoover, Jr., who in the past has received very lucrative contracts" from them.

Hoover was not available to reporters and a state department spokesman declined comment on Cellar's charge. The New York congressman, a frequent critic of U. S. policy toward Israel, did not say where he got his information.

Teen-Ager Killed In Blast Accident

GREEN RIVER, Utah, Feb. 20 (UPI)—An exploding oil well casing killed 14-year-old Duane Lee Cox yesterday and the sheriff who investigated said he was "pretty bitter" about the abandoned dynamite used in the explosion.

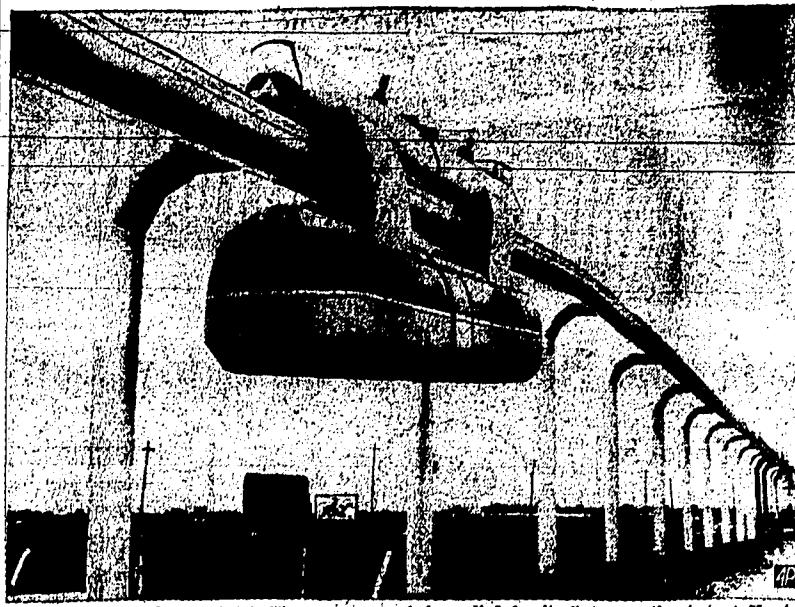

Emery County Sheriff Don B. Kofford, Chastledeale, Utah, said Cox and two teen-age companions had found the dynamite at the abandoned Black Panther uranium mine about 23 miles south of Green River.

"The powder was right out in the open, under a rock," he said. "It was old powder—very dangerous. It shouldn't have been left there..."

The sheriff said the boys exploded about 18 cases of the dynamite in the mine area, then loaded nine cases into their pickup truck and started toward Green River. About five miles south of Green River, he said, they came upon an old oil well casing sticking out of the ground. "They put nine sticks of dynamite in the old casing and this Cox kid ran the wires from the powder to the jeep," Kofford said. "The other two left and hid. Cox touched the wires to the jeep battery, setting off the powder."

"The jeep was only about 10 feet away and the blast killed him instantly. Bits of the casing hit him like shrapnel and tore him to pieces."

Experts believe the United States has about half the coal resources of the world.

Hanging from a single rail, this 53-passenger coach is readied for its first operation test at Houston, Tex. The $100,000 pilot line is 970 feet long and has attracted traffic executives from many large cities. The coach may be powered by diesel electric, gasoline or gas turbine, according to Murell Goodell, Monorail president. (AP wirephoto)

Hells Canyon Development Is Discussed by Joint Committee

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (Special)—The federal high dam in Hells canyon briefly entered the economic picture this week when the joint congressional committee on natural resource development.

The committee heard testimony from Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay, anti-high dam official, who was quizzed by Sen. Paul Douglas, D., Ill., long an ardent advocate of the single dam.

In setting forth his reasons for opposing the high dam, McKay said he "came to Washington with an open mind, but after talking (with engineers and other interior specialists) I was convinced the high dam would be a white elephant."

Douglas countered with the belief that "the administration made a great mistake when it favored two low-level dams instead of the single one."

Douglas went on to say that great power supplies will continue to be required in the northwest, and that the processing of phosphates was only one of the industries which will increase the requirements.

McKay agreed that "requirements are going to grow," but he pointed out that "upstream storage on the Snake river is essential and there is not enough water upstream to fill the big dam."

"Storage should be built where the water is," McKay concluded.

Report Avers GM Workers Salaries Hike

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 20 (UPI)—General Motors reported today workers in its United States plants received an all-time record weekly pay averaging $102.41 during 1955.

"General Motors people had a good year in 1955," Harlow H. Curtice, company president, and Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the board, reported in a special statement made in advance of the company's annual report.

The pay of the workers was up an average of nearly $11 a week from 1954, when the weekly average pay was $91.44.

Employment Is High

The number of workers drawing the pay checks also was up sharply. In 1954 hourly-rate employment averaged 387,482 in United States plants. In 1955 the hourly-rate employment was up to 410,022.

Workers in the car, truck, body and assembly divisions did even better than the average for all General Motors workers. They drew weekly pay checks averaging $104.77. In 1954 their checks had averaged $95.34.

Total employment in all GM plants throughout the world was 624,011 salaried and hourly-rate workers, who earned $3,127,145,514, the report said. This was also up sharply from 1954 when world employment of the firm was 576,667 and the total pay roll was $2,510,195,000.

Pay Rolls Cost

The report said that the pay rolls cost more than a fourth of all General Motors sales during the year. Average hourly earnings in the United States for General Motors were $2.21 compared to the $1.88 average for all manufacturing reported by the bureau of labor statistics.

The company said the average work week was 42.5 hours, compared to 40.4 hours in 1954.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 20 (UPI)—A hotly contested Oscar nomination race was under way yesterday night at the Motion Picture Academy announced nominees for the 28th awards.

The most tempestuous widow

"The Rose Tattoo," and Miss

Leigh, who portrayed singer Lili

Both as an alcoholic in "I'll Cry

Tomorrow," were considered the leaders in the race for the actress' top Oscar.

Opposition will be Katharine Hepburn, the vacationing spinster in "Venise in 'Summerlike';"

Jennifer Jones, Eurasian doctor of

"Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing"; and Eleanor Parker, who played the lady in "Miranda Lawrence in 'Interrupted Melody.'

Dea, the emotion-wracked hero

"East of Eden," was the first performer nominated for an Oscar posthumously. He died in an auto accident last September. Despite his death, Hollywood insiders figure him in a close race with Hepburn,

the beloved butch of "Marty."

Opposing them will be James Cagney, the hard-living gangster-agent

"Love Me or Leave Me"; Frank

Laubin, the hopped-up drummer of

"The Man With the Golden Arm";

Spencer Tracy, the one-armed senior in "Bad Day at Black Rock."

Picture Nominated

Nominated for the best picture were "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing," "Marty," "Mr. Rob-

"Picnic" and "The Rose Tat-

Tiff Develops In Probes for Campaign Gift

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Juristic problems today engulfed the Senate's proposed investigation of improper attempts to influence legislation through campaign spending.

It appeared certain that a broad investigation will be conducted in the wake of controversy arising from a $2,000 campaign gift offered to Sen. Francis Case, R., S. D., by an attorney interested in passage of the natural gas bill. But it was by no means certain who will conduct the inquiry.

The Senate elections subcommittee which has voted to make a broad inquiry, was called into session to consider a budget for the investigation. Chairman Albert Gore, D., Tenn., said he also hoped to select a committee counsel today.

But Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, Calif., in a week-end statement, questioned the authority of the Gore subcommittee to conduct the broad inquiry. Knowland said other committees have a stake in the subject matter of such an investigation. He said a new, bi-partisan special committee might be formed to do the job or an extension voted for the special committee currently studying the Case incident.

Chairman Walter F. George, D., Ga., called a meeting of the special committee but made it clear that he wants to close up shop. George said the group would inspect some documents and then decide whether any further hearings are required.

Columnist Eyes Manikin Job To Aid Other Men in Nation

By HENRY McLEMORE

Fall right out of your chair if you want to, but I have applied for a job as a model for men's fashions. That's right—a male manikin. It's not so much the pay I'm after as the chance to do millions of my fellow Americans a great service—one for which they have a real need and have long been denied.

If I get the job I'll be the only male model in the country who isn't every bit as good-looking as Cary Grant and who doesn't have a physique the equal of Burt Lancaster's. Every illustration of male apparel from hat to socks is posed for by a big chunk of handsome brute who looks fit and ready to win an international slalom race or tool a Mercedes to victory in a Grand Prix.

Models of this kind dress up advertisements, there's no doubt of that—but what purpose do they serve? How many men who buy clothes look and are built like these charmers? Not more than one out of every 10,000, you can be sure of that.

Most of us no more resemble them than a fly-swatting does a baseball bat—we come in all shapes and sizes and are generally homely. For the average American male to buy a garment just because it looks good on one of these handsome, streamlined models is ridiculous and dangerous. I know, because I have done it.

Not too many weeks ago I saw an advertisement for a turtle-neck sweater. The model was leaning nonchalantly against the mantelpiece of a ski lodge and looked handsomer than all get-out, so I went out and bought myself a turtle-neck sweater.

I wish you could see me in it! I put it on one day and leaned nonchalantly against our fireplace. Mary took one look and suggested that I get inside the chimney. "You will look better with your head out of sight," she sighed. The sweater made me look exactly like a turtle—and a frightened one at that. The neck kept popping over my chin, leaving nothing showing except my big, round eyes and my big, round ears.

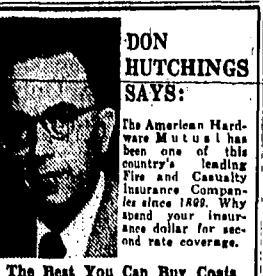

It wasn't fair to have the model make the sweater look so good. If the model had been a man of my appearance I never would have bought the fool thing! The use of models with my looks and build won't stop men from buying clothes—manufacturers need never fear that. Men have to keep on dressing because they can't go back to animal skins.

It's in the field of swim clothes that I believe manufacturers play their dirtiest tricks. The fellows who model those swimming trunks and lure us into buying them should be arrested. Their stomachs are as flat as the Gobi desert, their legs are as strong as young saplings, muscles covet in just the right places and there is always a girl or two in the ad looking at the model with admiring eyes. So what happens? Thousands of us average guys buy the trunks and head for the beach. We come closer to getting catcalls than the so-admiring glances.

If I get the modeling job the first thing I want to model is a double-breasted suit with an elastic back that will give when a man is a bit too stout to get behind the steering wheel of his car without squeaking. That would be an honest ad. I also want to model one of those foreign sports car caps. When men of my age and general condition see that kind of cap makes me look like a defrocked locomotive engineer, they'll invest in some other type of headgear.

2 Airmen Facing Kidnap Charges

BOISE, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Two airmen from Mountain Home air force base were being held on charges of second-degree kidnapping today in connection with the molesting of an 18-year-old Boise girl while her boy friend was held at gunpoint.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. M. Lampert yesterday were Roy Carson, 18, and Earl Stewart, 21, both Negroes. Conviction on the charge carries a maximum of 25 years in the penitentiary.

Ada County Prosecutor Blaine Evans said Carson and Stewart approached the couple's car parked in the Horizon Heights area of Boise early yesterday morning.

The girl was molested in the car while her 19-year-old boy friend was held at the point of a .22 caliber revolver, Evans said. The pair was originally charged with armed robbery and assault but the charge was

Racial Battle Is Pledged by Citizen Group

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 20 (AP) — A citizens council leader has said the segregationists will fight "as long as white blood flows pure" against agitation for racial segregation in the South.

This keynote was sounded by state Sen. Walter C. Gilman before an overflow crowd of 600 persons at a council organizational meeting reflecting opposition of townspeople to the admission of a first Negro student to the University of Alabama.

Blame Given

Gilman blamed agitation of "northerners and the Communist party" for rioting which preceded the exclusion of the Negro woman, Katherine Lucy, from further classes pending a court hearing.

"As long as southern blood flows pure in the South they are going to have a fight," he told the applauding crowd, but he said the fight must be waged "within the law."

Biggest ovations were given Leonard R. Wilson, a sophomore pre-law student who made one pro-segregation speech on a flagpole pedestal during the height of the campus riot.

Lauds Action

"I have not done anything I am ashamed of," the 10-year-old student said. "If I had to do it all over again I would speak from the Tuscaloosa flag pole."

The meeting followed by several hours the formation of a "Citizens Council of Alabama" linking several chapters that have sprung up in the state since the Autherine Lucy episode.

The University of Alabama had no comment about student participation in the council here but one official said "this is a new development we weren't expecting."

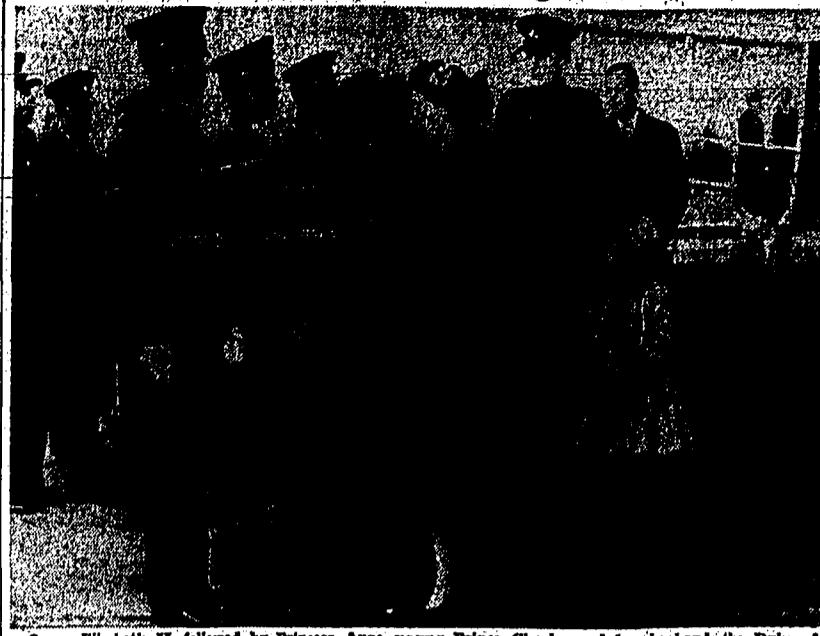

X-Ray Practice Is Discontinued

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 20 (AP) — The Utah board of health Saturday said it will temporarily discontinue the widespread practice of taking chest X-rays with its mobile unit among persons under 25 years of age.

State Health Director Dr. Joseph P. Keeler said the mobile unit has detected only two cases of tuberculosis in 14 years in the young age group.

But Keeler assured the board that X-rays will be taken with the unit where and whenever it is needed, no matter what the age.

SUPPORT GIVEN

SAVONA, Italy, Feb. 20 (AP) — A newly-formed "Columbus committee" gave full support today to a suggestion by Uruguayan Adm. Attilio Grigerio to build a Columbus center in Rome in honor of explorer Christopher Columbus.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes... Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N. Y. (Special) — The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physician's leading asthma prescription—so safe that now it can be sold—without prescription—in tiny tablets called Primatec.

Husbands' Party
Planned at Meet
Of Lincoln Club

SHOSHONE, Feb. 20 — A plastic party was held by the Idaho Rebekah club last week at the home of Mrs. Max Miller.

Call was answered with valentine verses. A report on year books was given by Mrs. M. A. McCloud. The books will be distributed at the March meeting. Mystery pals for the year were drawn. Members with February birthday anniversaries, Mrs. McCloud and Mrs. C. S. West, were honored.

Guests were Mrs. Hugh Caldwell, Wendell; Mrs. Edna Hart, Castleford; Mrs. Nola Smith, Jerome, and Mrs. Myrtle Laughlin and Mrs. Lois Stephens, both Gooding.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Orlando Jackson.

Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

A big family is fine because the strength against which he can draw. Child reared in a large group is likely to gather experiences that mature him earlier and help him to hold his own among others as well as go along with him. But the large family may have its drawbacks, too, as when every member of it thinks he ought to add his voice to that of authority whenever a child is addressed.

The child's mother says, "Come along now, Tony. It's time to get ready for bed."

Of course, Tony has to put a last touch on whatever he is doing, so Big Brother says loudly, "Tony, did you hear your mother speaking to you?"

Next Big Sister calls, "Tony, why don't you mind?"

Tony, now caloused by the voices, pays no attention whatever, so his grandmother says, "Mary, why don't you make that child obey when you speak? Tony, get up this minute and do as your mother says. Right now!"

It all ends by Tony's mother picking him up and carrying him off, muttering as she goes that she does wish people would keep out of things that don't concern them. This situation puts an edge on all tempers in the room and adds nothing to the peace and harmony of the family.

There should be one voice of authority at a time in the household. When the mother speaks first, the situation should remain with her. If the father speaks first, the problem is his. The member of the family who took over authority should be allowed to finish what he began or learn by experience that she should not have undertaken the job in the first place.

When every member of the family sits on his weight when a child has been brought into the foreground, the youngster becomes confused. Soon he decides that what is everybody's business is none of his, and goes his way. He feels insecure in the group because he has no one source of strength to look to, and that makes for more trouble.

Any child from birth through adolescence to maturity needs to know that there is one source of strength against which he can draw.

Showdown Among Nation's Top Teams Feature Week's Forthcoming Cage Clashes

By The Associated Press

College basketball has more showdownd scheduled this week than those horse operas that pop up on TV every Saturday as conference contenders make their big bids for titles and tickets to the NCAA tournament.

The excitement is slated for the Southeastern, Big 7, Rocky Mountain, Skyline and Border conferences with some preliminary, but important, skirmishes on tap in the Big 10, Pacific Coast, Southern and Atlantic Coast as those leagues continue to build up the pressure.

Only two conference champs are home free so far—Marshall in the Mid-American and Connecticut in the Yankee.

They join two "at-large" selections in the NCAA title chase—Memphis State, named Monday, and Holy Cross, named Saturday. Both independents have 18-4 records.

The NIT, which may pick up the Missouri Valley and Skyline runners-up, named its eighth entry, Niagara (17-5), Monday. Earlier picks were Dayton, which smacked fellow NIT entry Xavier of Ohio 85-76 Sunday for a 20-2 record; defending champ Duquesne, Seton Hall, Louisville, the only club to beat Dayton; St. Francis of Brooklyn, spilled from an 18-game winning streak Saturday by St. Joseph's (Pa.), and Marquette.

The SEC gets to the showdownd business Monday night with Vanderbilt (10-1) in a return match with Kentucky (9-1). The Wildcats, carried into a battle for the SEC crown for the first time in years, then meet Alabama, the current leader at 9-0, Saturday at Montgomery. Ala. Vandals have beaten Kentucky, but lost to Bama.

King also thinks he has the style to knock out Willie (Hot) Pastrana of New Orleans. He isn't exactly a newcomer, having won 46 fights, lost five and drawn six. His best fight is a short right and he chilled Roger Riescher with it in the third round two weeks ago here.

King could have trouble keeping his mind on his job. He is seeking to have a March 13 title bout in London against Yolande Pompey put off until the summer so he can have extra time to make the weight. On top of that, promoter Frank Tabor has brought a $11,500 suit against Moore on charges that he ran out on a bout in Oakland against Bob Dunlap which was scheduled for last April 7.

The Moore-King fight touches off a flurry of boxing activity in this region the like of which hasn't been seen in 20 years. Joey Lopez meets Jorge Macias in a lightweight bout at Sacramento Tuesday. Then there will be two cards on Wednesday with the nationally televised heavyweight fight between Eddie Machen and Julio Mederos following an afternoon featherweight bout at Richmond between Larry Vasquez and Cleo Lane. On Thursday night Dave Johnson meets Gino Garabell of Italy here.

Idaho State's Cagers Face Colorado Five

By United Press

Idaho State college should have its third straight Rocky Mountain conference basketball championship wrapped in a sack.

Idaho State plays Colorado college at Pocatello Monday and Tuesday nights and a sweep would clinch the title for the Idahoans. Colorado college hasn't won a conference game this season, while Idaho State has a 6-1 record.

Montana State, second with 6-3, plays at Montana University the same nights in a pair of non-conference games.

Other games this week find the Air Academy at Colorado Mines and Colorado State at the Denver Bankers, both on Tuesday; Colorado Mines at Regis and Panhandle A and M at Western State on Friday, and Colorado college at Colorado Mines, Colorado State at Warren air force base and Panhandle A and M at Western State on Saturday.

Skyline Hikes Athletic Aid

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Skyline conference presidents Friday liberalized the league's athletic aid rules.

Effective next Sept. 1, conference athletes may receive board, room tuition, institutional fees and books free and up to $135 a year for institutional employment.

Skyline schools also were urged to increase the number of athletic scholarships.

Dr. Thomas Popejoy of New Mexico, chairman of the council of presidents, disclosed the action and said:

"This move has brought the Skyline conference into line with equivalent regulations of neighboring conferences such as the Border, Big Seven, Pacific Coast and Southwest."

The presidents also renewed the contract of Skyline commissioner's office for the next fiscal year.

In adopting the aid-to-athletes regulations, the council followed almost exactly recommendations of the conference faculty representatives last December.

Representatives Named by Club

SHOSHONE, Feb. 20—Arthur Hall will serve for the Shoshone Rod and Gun club on the Farmer-sportmen panel at a wildlife meeting Feb. 27. He was appointed by president Earl White at a meeting Tuesday night at the high school home economics rooms.

Ernest Coleman, Jerome, reported 7,700 trees were planted in this area last year with a 30 per cent survival.

Wildlife and game survival reports were given by George Roessler and Walter Berry, Shoshone.

Holy Cross Takes Tournament Bid

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Holy Cross, an eastern basketball power with an 18-3 record, was named to play in next month's NCAA tournament.

Holy Cross will be one of four "at-large" teams to be paired against the champions of the Atlantic coast, Southern, Middle Atlantic, and Yankee conferences in the opening round in Madison Square garden March 12-13.

University of Washington Football Probe Is Ordered

ANCOUVER, Wash., Feb. 20 (AP)—A survey of the gnarled football situation at the University of Washington was ordered Saturday by the state's legislative council. The council decided against a full-scale investigation as being too costly—and because of the effects it might have on the athletes, their families and friends and the irreparable damage it do to the future of university athletics." A full-scale investigation would have brought testimony under oath from persons touched by the turmoil that began last November with a revolt by Washington football players against Coach John Cherberg. As a result of the revolt, the coach has been fired and Athletic Director Harvey Cassell has resigned.

Sets Record

Ruth O'Brien of the U. S. air force puts the shot during National AAU championships at Madison Square Garden Feb. 18, to top every record in the books. O'Brien, who has been trying for years to break the 60-foot mark indoors, topped every world record—indoors and outdoors—when he got off a heave of 61 feet, 5 1/4 inches. (AP wirephoto)

Ruth Legend Gets Denial by Ex-Chicago Moundsman

KODDLER, Calif., Feb. 20 (AP)—New to the legend of the Babe Ruth's "bat pointing" when he hit a home run in the 1932 world series is a given Saturday by a man who hit to know.

"He didn't point any bat," defended gray-haired Charley Root. "If he had I'd have knocked him down."

Root was in a perfect spot to do just that, too. He was for the Chicago Cubs on the first day when Ruth belted his offerings into the bleachers at Wrigley field. The smash has down in baseball annals as one of the classic home runs of all time. You know the legend: The New York Yankees came into Chicago for the third game of the series and Ruth had tied it up at 4-4, with Ruth failing to hit in his second trip to the plate, after four innings and Root still was on the mound. The Cub bench and taunting fans renewed their heckling when Ruth came up in the fifth.

This is how the "Encyclopedia of Sports" describes what happened then:

"The Babe looked around the stands, then, with his bat, pointed to the fence in center field—just to see that he would drive the ball over that spot. And that is exactly what he did."

That's not the way it went, though, says Root.

"I got two strikes on him," he recounts, "and each time he turned to our bench and held up first one, then two fingers. He knocked the third pitch over the fence."

"But he didn't point any bat. If he had, I'd have knocked him down."

Clash Is Looming In NCAA, NAIA

NEW YORK, Feb. 20 (UPI)—There's a David and Goliath battle shaping up in sports today and the little fellow is so hopping mad that this time he probably won't even need a slingshot.

It has developed as result of the recent decision of the NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association) to stage a "small college" basketball tournament. It is designed to run out of business the tournament staged annually at Kansas City by the NAIA (National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics).

But the little college group has served notice that it's going to take a lot of running.

Angered by the NCAA action, the little colleges apparently have been strengthened rather than hurt. Eight of their 31 districts already have voluntarily supplied 100 per cent loyalty pledges. And, instead of backing off, the NAIA plans to spread out in meeting the challenge by putting on a bowl football game at either Shreveport or Little Rock.

The NCAA naturally is a better known organization because it is devoted to the big schools which are athletic foundries. Suddenly, however, it has realized the blossoming power of the small colleges, which it forever neglected, because now the NAIA has 465 member schools with some 550,000 students.

It is obvious that the NCAA figures to stamp out a growing rival and taking over a paying proposition at the same time.

The little colleges concede, apparently, that they would be supremely happy to "jump" at the NCAA little college event which A. W. Mumford of Southern university calls a "backdoor tournament" now they not only have their basketball but also track, tennis and golf tournaments. In the NCAA, they would be completely submerged.

There is a danger to the little colleges in that, quite possibly, the NCAA might eventually forbid its members to compete against NAIA teams. But the latter group has 465 members, and the NCAA only 225 small college members.

In a freezeout, the NAIA doesn't figure to get hurt too much. Yet, as Fred Hess of Nebraska Wesleyan says, some small schools which are jealous of larger colleges may "prefer to identify themselves with the NCAA in the role of shirt tail relative because of pseudo prestige."

Apparently there aren't too many of those. Roswell Merrick of Southern Illinois university sums it up by saying:

"I am confident that after a tournament or two held by the NCAA, things will level off and the NAIA will be a lot stronger for the experience. Our basis is sound because teams and players are not selected just to get a packed house and principles are not sacrificed just for a dollar sign."

Aussie Swimmers Set New Records

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Two Australian 17-year-olds surpassed world swimming records Saturday night to serve notice again that the host country will be a potent force in the Olympic games at Melbourne, Nov. 22-Dec. 8.

Lorraine Crapp, an attractive 17-year-old blonde, again eclipsed the world standard for the 440-yard free style.

Her winning time was 5 minutes, 5.9 seconds for the event in the Australian championships in the North Sydney salt water Olympic pool.

It was the second time in 24 hours she bettered the listed world mark of 6:01.9 set by America's Ann Curtis May 2, 1947.

Icing on the cake was added when Dawn Fraser, a comely 18-year-old south Australian, finished second in 5:07.9, in her first attempt at this distance in championship competition.

Delinquents Sentenced to Jail; Police Chief Tells of Preventing Outbreaks

In the following stories, Vernon Chang, police reporter, Robert T. Loughran tells how 14-year-old chief of nearby Milwaukee, Wisconsin, explains why crime has a tough time getting started in his city.

By ROBERT T. LOUGHREN

CHICAGO, Feb. 20 (UPI)—Clement (Cookie) Macis, a tall, slender youth in his 16th year, is the convicted murderer of a boy he never knew.

Cookie was sentenced to serve 16 years in prison yesterday for the shotgun murder last July 1 of Kenneth Sieboda, 17. Eight other members of Macis' "wolf pack" gang drew shorter sentences and five more youths, who turned state evidence, are up for sentencing.

The fate of Cookie Macis and Kenneth Sieboda is another symptom of a frightening outbreak of teen-age violence and brutality in Chicago.

Within one week last month a young AWOL soldier shot and killed a policeman, a teen-age boy killed another in a knife fight, and two youths clubbed a school teacher into insensibility. Police report that "wolf pack" gangs of young hoodlums swagger along the street, searching for violence and "kicks."

The Sieboda-murder stemmed directly from such an attack—the beating of Eugene O'Brien, 17, by another teen-age gang.

On a hot summer night, O'Brien's gang set out to get even. They had three cars, at least one of them stolen, and Cookie brought along his father's shotgun. O'Brien had a lug wrench. Others had baseball bats.

Cookie had never seen Sieboda before in his life until the stolen car stopped suddenly at a street corner. There was Sieboda, talking with other boys and girls.

Cookie fired—he said it was an "offense."

It was hard to bring the "wolf pack" boys to trial. About 175 prospective jurors begged off because they wanted no part of sentencing youths who got back on the right track and stay there.

In 1954, the last year for which nationwide statistics are available, Milwaukee had an outstanding record in crime rates among the 13 cities with a population of one-half million to one million.

Milwaukee had the fewest robberies and burglaries of all cities on the list. Minneapolis was the only city which had fewer murders and manslaughters than Milwaukee.

The city's national reputation as a "clean" city resulted from the foresight of lawmakers more than half a century ago.

In 1888 the Wisconsin legislature passed a law removing police and fire departments from political control and placing them under civil service.

The new law gave the police chief a free hand to run the department without fear of political interference.

This in turn inspired the faith, trust and confidence of the citizens, and no police department can be better than the citizens want it to be.

Our police department fostered several other unique programs in addition to the juvenile crime prevention plan.

The police training program established four years ago puts young high school graduates through four years of intensive classroom and on-the-job training toward assignment as regular policemen.

Since 1922, all policemen, regardless of experience, must attend a service school at least one hour weekly to learn the latest crime detection and prevention methods. Special intelligence squads keep track of known criminals through cooperation with other cities. When gangsters or hoodlums arrive in Milwaukee, these squads invited them to leave.

Mr. Sengler told members of the state department and other government officials about the shipment but the secret of the atomic bomb was so closely guarded that no one with whom he talked recognized the importance of the information," Johnson said. "This shipment supplied the bulk of the uranium for the development work and the early production of fissionable material for bombs."

Johnson said shipments of uranium began to arrive from the Congo in 1943 when mining operations were restored there. But it was the uranium ore cached by Sengler only 45 minutes from Broadway that made it possible for atomic scientists to build their formulas into the bombs that brought Japan to its knees in 1945.
